Community Snapshot:
West Garfield Park
West Garfield Park

West Garfield Park, located five miles west of the Loop, is a community marked by change. Its evolution has encompassed the transition from farmland into what was for a time the city’s second busiest shopping district; attractions that have included both an infamous 19th-century racetrack and one of Chicago’s most beautiful parks; periods of booming residential growth followed by white flight; racial unrest and neighbors coming together.

For decades, West Garfield Park residents who want to improve their community have fought back against the depopulation, crime and poverty that began to affect the neighborhood in the 1950s. They established block clubs and nonprofit organizations such as Bethel New Life, an agency that for nearly four decades has focused on real estate development, affordable housing, social programs and job creation — building on “the people, physical assets and faith base of the community” to strengthen its connections to the rest of the region and create opportunities for those who live there.

...if something don’t happen... if somebody don’t do something about this soon... what’s going on out here is going to continue. And you know it’s going to get bigger and bigger. Something’s got to be done...
